OUT FOR THE NIGHT

GOING TO AMUSEMENTS

Pinch With of an Explorer.

Dr. Emil Holub is well known in Europe as an African explorer, but his work is aspecially marked by the fact that his wife accompanied him on his and wife should go out in the ening as often as their means and circes will allow-I mean to the neert, the lecture, the opera or the play. What a man wants in the evening is something entirely different from day, and that is what our women want as well, and the majority get too little of It is a false economy that denies a certain amount of amusement to the family. Fun is good for all, even the soberest. One reason why some of our women are not healthier than they are, or brighter in spirit, is simply because they either deny themselves, or are de-nied certain diversions which their very natures crave and should have. Living by rule, existing in a certain routine, day after day and evening after evening is maddening to the sweetest disposition that God ever implanted in a woman. Sometimes I marvel at hus-bands who seem to be utterly incapable of seeing the necessities of their wives in this respect. It is only natural that women should grow restless and dis-pirited at the thousand annoyances that present themselves in a home during a day. Men either stubbornly refuse to believe or seem to overlook the fact that a lance is just as difficult to manage to a a forme is just as difficult to manage to a mora as a business to a man, and offitimes more so. This idea that some men have, that women have nothing to do all day is to me incomprehensible, and excumable only on the ground of sheer ignorance. It is an old saw, but a true one, that a woman's work is never such a fuse about it as a man does about his work. When he is concepted the whole family knows it, and feels that an old hear would be a pleasanter thing to have around the house. But a ground is patient under trial; silent under op-pression. Humbrads of husbands have no ofen that their wives are tired until access morning they are too sick to rise. A accessar suffers quietly; let a man suffer and you can hear him two blocks of Edward W. Bok, Editor Ladice Home

One may be disposed to forgive the roman who has been beautiful, if is her lesperate attompts to retain her beauty she paints and powders and obcome to make of hermit a thing of berrowed abouts and patrices. Her, says All the Year Round, when women tell us to mene of them do fell us now such them that last trip four years ago, a young woman then, only 18, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Dr. Holub met her first in Vienna. Immediately after the marriage they set sail for Africa. At Cape Town the young bride was urged to stay while the explorers went on into the interior. But she resolved to keep on with the party, and with Dr. Holub, six soldiers party, and with Dr. Holub, six soldiers of the Austro-Hungarian army and a Betahuana girl she started for the land of the North Zambest. The journey met with great scientific success, but otherwise it was simply terrible. At Zambest the party expected to take a rest, but civil war was raging in the Ma-Kutze kingdom and the explorers had to settle down and wait until the restoration of peace. Luanika Leboshe, the victorious king, gave the necessary consent to their progress, but by this consent to their progress, but by this time the entire party, with the exception of Frau Holub, lay prostrate with malarial typhoid, unable to stir from the dank Zambesi riverside. Eight months they stayed there on the Zambeski, the men being all dangerously ili. Frau Holub's services here became invaluable, and the plucky wife nursed the sick and and the plucky wife nursed the sick and took care of the weak and wretched cattle without any help whatever for five months, and then she too, was pros-trated. In August, 1886, after three years in the interior, clad in rags and consumed with fever and famine, they reached Tshobe junction. During all their torturing experiences the young woman bore a soldier's part. She seemed to be the strongest one in the party. She stood sentry on many a dreadful night while the weak and worn explorers

At a private audience the Emperor Francia Joseph presented Frau Holub with the golden cross and crown in rec-ognition of her bravery and scientific success, and Dr. and Mrs. Holub both have received decorations from half the societies of Europe. -

Teaching the Men a Lesson.

The women of Rio Grande, New Jersey, taught their husbands, brothers and sweethearts a political trick or two in the recent election of a school trustee, says the Argonaut. They claimed that their rights were being trampled in the dust by their lords and masters, and boildy announced that they intended to rectify the wrong by electing a school trustee piedged to their interests. They put forward as their champion Charles put forward as their champion Charles W. Saul, the handsome station agent of the West Jersey railroad, who has enthe West Jersey railroad, who has en-deared himself to every female heart in the place by his obliging manners as well as his good looks. Saul willingly accepted the honor, and the women started in to win. They canvassed the entire district and instructed servants and washer women that to vote against Saul meant dismissal. As a conmanuence, the women were at the polls in force. The main portion of the community were jealous of Saul and picket out their best man, in the person of Squire F. N. Harris, to run against him Although the men hustical for votes. they could not match the winning ways of the women, and neveral masculing back numbers refused to vote at all if the women did. When the ballots were counted Saul was found to be ejected by a majority of ten.

Elder S. S. Beaver of McAllisterville, Juniatta county, Pennsylvania, says his wife is subject to cramps in the stomach. Last summer she tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholers and Diarrhea Remedy for it, and was much pleased with the speedy relief it afforded. She has since used it whenever necessary and found that it never fails. For sale by F. J. Wurzburg, druggist, No. 58 Monroe street.

The many cases of rheumatism cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm during the past few months have given the people great confidence in its curative properties, and have shown that there is one preparation that can be depended upon for that painful and aggravating disease. Honaker Bros., Lorain, Ohio, says: "Mr. Moses Price of this place was troubled with rheumatism for a long time. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has cured him. He says that the Balm has no equal." For sale by F. J. Wurzburg, druggist, No. 58 Monroe street.

The more Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the better it is liked. We know of no other remedy that always gives satisfaction. It is good when you first catch cold. It is good when your cough is seated and your lungs are sore. It is good in any kind of a cough. We have sold twenty-five dozen of it and every bottle has given satisfaction. My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a very severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and as a last recort gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise she began to improve after the first application, and by using it regularly she was soon able to get up and at tend to her house work. E. H. Johnson, of C. J.
